

Can you help raise funds to repair Ned's Stable at the Jarman Centre?

Do you enjoy visiting Ned at the Jarman Centre?

Ned was given to the Jarman Centre by Fulbourn district and we had to move him with a horse trailer. He was originally one of several wooden animals in the Grafton Centre in Cambridge. His stable was built as part of the sensory garden in 2010. There was a snowy evening a few years ago when someone tried unsuccessfully to steal him from his stable. Luckily the snow made it too slippery to get him up the drive. So, Ned has had a few adventures . . .

Ned has been a favourite with all our visitors at the Jarman Centre for the last fifteen years, but his stable roof has deteriorated and we now need to replace it to protect him for the future.

Can you help us raise some money towards the estimated cost of £6,500?

We have put together some activities to choose from to make a fun, themed evening or for a visit to the Jarman Centre. Perhaps you might extend the activities to hold a fundraising event in your unit such as a mini gymkhana or colouring competition.

We have also prepared a badge and proceeds from the sale of these will go specifically to this project. The badge costs £1.20 – you can buy the badge whether or not you take part in any of the activities.

You can order badges online – download an order form at <https://jarmancentre.org.uk/online-shop> – or buy from the shop at the Jarman Centre. An order form is also included on the last page of this booklet.

We hope you have a fun session supporting Ned!

Games

Shoeing Horses

Two chairs are placed opposite each other and about five metres apart in the middle of the circle of viewers. Two people are chosen from the group to be JOCKEYS and they sit on the chairs. Both are blindfolded. Six or seven shoes are placed around the floor near the chairs. When told to begin, the jockeys must hunt for the 'horse shoes' and put them on the legs of their 'horses' (the chairs). The jockey to have shoes on all four legs is declared the winner.

- Only one shoe can be carried at a time
- Either player may rob horse shoes from the others horse, unless the other jockey is sitting on the horse

Hobby Horse Gymkhana

Using the hobby horses you made from the craft section compete them in gymkhana races which could include apple bobbing, sack race, egg and spoon, alarm race, relay bucket-fill race etc.

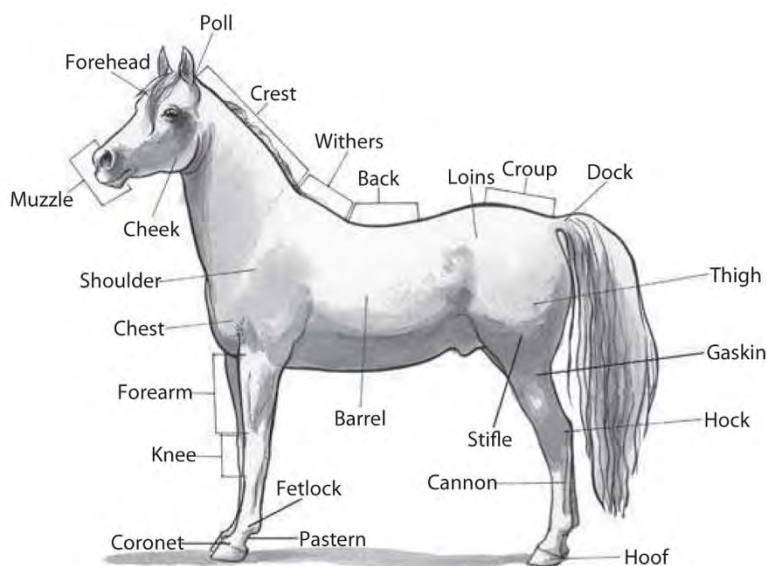

You could also make rosettes to give to the 1st, 2nd and 3rd placed winners

Red Light, Green Light

Again, using your hobby horses: each 'mounted' rider listens to one person calling out either 'red light' or 'green light'. You can play this outdoors on a long stretch of grass or going clockwise around a meeting hall.

Riders take off on 'green light' and come to a quick halt on 'red light'. The last to stop each time retires from the game with the winner the last rider still going.
